The American Journal of Physics is devoted to the educational and cultural aspects of physics. The Journal was established in 1933 and from 1933 to 1940 it carried the title The American Physics Teacher. The Journal is published by the AAPT through the AIP Publishing LLC, 1305 Walt Whitman Road, Suite 110, Melville, New York 11747-4300, a subsidiary of the American Institute of Physics, which is an association of ten professional societies (including the AAPT) representing major areas of physics.

Those wishing to submit manuscripts should go to the American Journal of Physics website for information on editorial policy, manuscript preparation, and manuscript submission. If the manuscript is accepted for publication, the authors will be required to submit a signed license to publish or open access form.

Claims: The first claim for a missing print issue will be met free of charge if made within 3 months of publication date for US customers and 5 months for rest-of-world customers. If additional claims for an issue are made, the single copy rate will apply. There will be a fee for replacement of issues outside of the claim period. To report a missing issue or request a replacement copy, contact subs@aip.org.

Copying: Single copies of individual articles may be made for private use or research. Authorization is given to copy articles beyond the free use permitted under Sections 107 and 108 of the U.S. Copyright Law, provided that the copying fee of $30.00 per copy per article is paid to the Copyright Clearance Center, 222 Rosewood Drive, Danvers, MA 01923, USA, www.copyright.com. (Note: The ISSN for this journal is 0002-9505.)

Authorization does not extend to systematic or multiple reproduction, to copying for promotional purposes, to electronic storage or distribution, or to republication in any form. In all such cases, specific written permission from AAPT must be obtained.

Requests for Permission: Permission is granted to quote from the journal with the customary acknowledgment of the source. Republication of an article or portions thereof requires formal permission from AAPT and may be subject to fees. You may address requests to rights@aip.org.
